

13 Design Pros on the Women-Owned Businesses They Love

By ASHLEY CHALMERS | Updated on 03/15/22

We independently research, test, review, and recommend the best products—learn more about our process. If you buy something through our links, we may earn a commission.

The Vale London

With March comes the end of winter, the start of spring, and, best of all: International Women’s Day. This year, the honorary day fell on March 8, 2022, but that doesn’t mean we can’t celebrate all month (or year) long.

In celebration of women-owned brands and businesses, we turned to some of our favorite designers to ask for their suggestions and recommendations on the female-founded brands they love. These design pros—all of whom are women business-owners themselves—more than delivered.

Consider this guide the ultimate go-to for your spring home refresh while supporting a woman-owned business—a total win-win.

Kristin Bartone of Bartone Interiors

Lacefield Designs

In2Green: “In2Green is a favorite supplier of beautiful blankets made from recycled water bottles—and it's also women-founded, which is another great opportunity to support other female-owned businesses in our industry.”

Lacefield Design: “Lacefield Design is a pillow company that is our number one resource for their pillows and textiles inspired by the human spirit, nature, relics, and culture. Many of their designs are inspired by their travels and life experiences!”